ORDER SPECIES CANAL ZONE PEOPLE

Permanent Government, with Goethals as Head, Goes in Effect April 1.

DEPARTMENTS PROVIDED

Present Commissioners Probably Will Act as Committee in Charge of Opening Ceremonies.

Secretary of War Garrison yesterday announced that the nomination of Col. Goethals to be governor of the Panama Canal Zone under the permanent organization would be sent to the Senate by President Wilson at once. At the same time he made public an executive order signed by the President, establishing the permanent government of the Zone. Col. Goethals was notified by cable of the signing of the order and of the President's intention to nominate him for governor.

The new form of government, the order directs, is to go into effect April 1, and on that date the present Isthmian Canal Commission will cease to exist. It also is stated in the order, however, that not all the several departments and divisions need be established on the Zone until the governor shall consider it desirable.

It also was announced that the President will ask Congress to provide for the other members of the existing Canal Commission by giving him authority to appoint a committee to have charge of the opening of the Canal. The members of the existing commission, in addition to Col. Goethals, are Col. H. F. Hodges, Lt. Col. W. L. Shafter, corps of engineers, U. S. A.; Civil Engineer H. H. Rousseau, U. S. N.; and Richard L. Metcalf, former editor of Mr. Bryan's Commonwealth, Lt. Col. D. B. Gallard, corps of engineers, U. S. A., until his death last fall, a member of the commission, and Col. William C. Gorgas, medical corps, U. S. A., also was a member until his recent nomination to be surgeon-general of the army.

Will Arrange for Opening.

All the members of the commission will automatically be deprived of positions by the establishment of the new government. The men now on the commission will receive salaries, and it is likely that Col. Gorgas will be named to serve without additional compensation, because of his important connection with the canal work as chief sanitary officer. It is reported that the plan is to make Mr. Metcalf chairman of the new committee. This body will have much work to do in arranging for the opening.

The order provides for several departments under the direction of the governor, who shall report to the President through the Secretary of War, by which the Canal Zone is to be governed and the canal operated. The departments and divisions specified are: Department of operation and maintenance, purchasing department, supply department, accounting department, and department of public works, and what amounts to a civil government department.

The Department of Maintenance and Operation is to be under the direction of an officer of the engineer corps of the army, and he is to be acting governor in the absence of disability of the governor. This department is to be charged with all construction work relating to the canal and all matters relating to the traffic of the canal and its adjuncts. Associated with this department will be a superintendent of transportation, who is to be an officer of the navy; an electrical engineer, to be an engineer officer of the army; captains of the terminal ports, to be naval officers; superintendent of shops and drydocks, to be a naval constructor.

Buying of Supplies.

The purchasing department will continue much as at present, charged with the buying of all supplies, clothing, etc. It will have an officer in Washington as at present.

The supply department, to be under the direction of a chief quartermaster, who shall be an officer of the quartermaster corps of the army, will store and distribute all material and supplies for use of the canal and its employees and for other departments on the Isthmus and their employees, and for vessels.

The auditing department is to have charge of all collections, accounting, both for money and property, preparation of statistical data, and the collection, custody and disbursement of all kinds of funds for the canal and zone.

The health department is to be under the direction of a chief health officer, who is to be an officer of the medical corps of the army. This department shall have charge of all matters of sanitation and quarantine with jurisdiction over the cities of Colon and Panama. Hospitals in the Canal Zone will be under his direction, with a superintendent of hospitals, who is also to be an army medical officer, and a chief officer of the quarantine division, who shall be an officer of the U. S. Public Health Service.

All matters pertaining to the administration and relations between the government and the government of the Republic of Panama are to be in charge of an executive secretary. He also will supervise matters relating to the time of employees, postoffice, customs, taxes, police and prisons, fire protection, land office, schools, clubs, law library, and custody of file and records, and, in addition, the duties of a shipping commissary.

It is further provided by the order that the supervision of all operations of the canal shall be under the Secretary of War.

COMMITTEE UNABLE TO AGREE.

Individual Findings Will Be Submitted on Football Night "Riots."

Unable to agree upon the radical report prepared by Representative Caraway, chairman of the subcommittee of the House District Committee, which investigated the "riots" which followed the Georgetown-Victoria football game last fall, members of the subcommittee yesterday determined to submit their individual findings and conclusions and frame a general measure from these.

William Henry White, counsel for the proprietor of the Ebbitt, appeared before the subcommittee yesterday.

SONS OF REVOLUTION WILLING TO TAKE PART

Adopt Resolution Regarding "Star Spangled Banner" Celebration in Baltimore.

WOULD SAVE WAKEFIELD FARM

Expressing a willingness to participate in Baltimore's celebration of the centenary of the writing of "The Star Spangled Banner" and also to take steps for the preservation of George Washington's birthplace, the District society of the Sons of the Revolution, at a meeting held at the Army and Navy Club last night, adopted two important resolutions. One, Henry May, president of the society, introduced. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Assistant Secretary of the Navy, who spoke on "The Important Services of Admiral Francois Joseph Paul de Grasse and the French Fleet Under His Command, to the Cause of the American Revolution in Their Relation to the Success of Gen. Washington's Operations on Shore Against Lord Cornwallis at Yorktown."

Mr. Roosevelt pointed out the relation of De Grasse's operations on the sea to the operations on shore by Washington against Lord Cornwallis at Yorktown. Without De Grasse Washington could not have succeeded.

Mr. Roosevelt mentioned the fact that thus far the American people had recognized the services of all other of the distinguished Europeans by erecting appropriate memorials in recognition of their services. But De Grasse and his work for our independence has been overlooked. De Grasse showed himself to be the right man at the right place at the right time.

Mr. Roosevelt said it was fitting and proper that a statue should be raised to his memory with those of Rochambeau, De Kalb, and Mifflin. Henry T. Shieben, whose services the American people have become more familiar with because they were rendered on shore. The address of Mr. Roosevelt was followed with the closest attention and interest and at its conclusion he received a rising vote of thanks.

A resolution presented by Barry Buckley, authorizes Col. George C. Richards, the secretary, to inform Mayor Preston of Baltimore, of the willingness of the District Society "to co-operate with him in any way to make the exercises noteworthy and to express the spirit of patriotism which animates the entire society."

On motion of Col. Richards it also was resolved "that the board of managers be instructed to take such action to the end that the Wakefield farm, including the site of the mansion in which George Washington was born and the burial place of his progenitors on that farm, be maintained in condition fitting their historical importance."

Col. George Richards, U. S. M. C., presented a report which dwelt upon the conditions governing the composition of school children for the celebration of the best essay on some historical subject connected with the Revolution. This competition closes February 14, in season to award the medal at the public exhibition commemorating Washington's Birthday, to be held in the National Theater Sunday afternoon, February 22, at 2 o'clock.

These exercises are in charge of a specially appointed committee of arrangements, consisting of Lieut. Col. Henry T. Allen, chairman; Barry Buckley, Charles L. Gurley, Dr. Ralph Jenkins, and Col. George C. Richards. The committee reported the generous offer of the National Theater, by W. Harriman Rapley, for the use of the society in connection with the celebration.

The following members of the society were present at the meeting: Henry T. Allen, William S. Abert, George H. Beaman, A. B. Bennett, Jr., R. R. Bennett, E. M. Blackwell, Barry Buckley, H. K. Bush-Brown, L. B. Conkling, Charles F. Duggan, John H. Duggan, R. Dickinson, Irving H. Dunlap, Green Clay Goodloe, Charles L. Gurley, F. E. Guernsey, G. G. Gibson, F. W. Hackett, Thomas W. GIRL'S DISMEMBERED BODY IN SUITCASE

Confession of Negro in St. Louis Puts Police on Study of Mysterious Murder.

YOUNG WOMEN ARE MISSING

Special to The Washington Herald.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 27.—A murder mystery which rivals the case of Anna Amulder, for whose death Hans Schmidt, the renegade priest, is on trial in New York, was brought to light here today by a confession of Charles Anderson, a negro. According to shreds of the story of the murder obtained from Anderson, a young white girl was slain, her body was cut into small pieces and carried about St. Louis for several days by a negro who tried unsuccessfully to dispose of it.

What disposition the negro finally made of the body the police have not been able to learn.

Anderson, who is under indictment for having killed another negro, told Chief of Detectives Allender that Reece McAllister, his father-in-law, brought the suit case containing the body to the laundry where Anderson was employed and offered him $25 to burn the body in the laundry furnace. Anderson said he would not permit him to do it and that McAllister went away with the body.

A squad of detectives were sent to every part of the city to search for a number of girls who were reported missing.

MICHIGAN SONS AT BURLSON

Claim Postmaster General Favored Machine to Wilson Men.

ANNUAL BANQUET HELD

Publisher Aims Hot Shots at Administration for Overlooking the "Originals."

Michigan's contingent of the "original Wilson men" legion voiced its complaint against the spoils distribution methods of Postmaster General Burleson last night through James Schermerhorn, publisher of the Detroit Times, at the annual banquet of the Michigan Association, at Rauscher's.

Mr. Schermerhorn, himself a very "original Wilson man," essayed the role of "The Man from Home" and fired a few pointed shafts into the administration for favoring, in the distribution of offices, the Michigan machine which Schermerhorn and his friends fought in order to win delegates for Wilson.

E. O. Wood, Democratic national committeeman for Michigan, was among those present and one of the principals aimed at by Schermerhorn.

Mr. Wood, who spoke last on the program, took no notice of Mr. Schermerhorn's attack on his machine, beyond turning to him and relating a story which ends up, "It's impossible for any man to be as wise as you look."

Compared to Circus Boy.

Schermerhorn spoke in a whimsical vein of humor.

"Receiving the man who claims to hail from home," he said, "at the seat of national government, a more or less precarious ceremony, if he have aspirations above a seat in the visitors' gallery, a peep at the Washington Monument, or a place in line at a Presidential reception."

"There are any number of cases on record where men from home who were well and favorably known in the conventions and campaigns, haven't been recognized at all at the National Capital, either in the twilight zone or out of it."

To the small boy who carries water for the elephant all day and then is unable to find the man who promised a reward to give him a circus ticket, Mr. Schermerhorn compared "grownups who fetch and carry for the Democratic donkey, which had grown quite attenuated from enforced Fletcherizing."

Moving Picture Scenario.

As the scenario of a moving picture drama in three films, Schermerhorn sketched the fight of the original Wilson men, "Horatius at the Bridge," which was the first film was described as a meeting in his office of men untried in politics, but who were zealous in the cause of progressive democracy and willing to fight the strong state machine, which was working for Harrison, he said, or "anyone to beat Wilson." The second film he described as showing the fight of the progressive Democrats for Wilson delegates in state convention, and later for Wilson at Baltimore. In another "film" Mr. Schermerhorn described a conference in the office of the Postmaster General on patronage questions. "I'll be glad to listen to you," he quoted the Postmaster General as saying, "but let us bear in mind before you begin that these are only so many names to me." Drawing, then, a lesson from Macaulay's history, "Horatius at the Bridge," which closes with a description of the monument reared by grateful Rome to Horatius, he continued:

"It will be observed that the recognition and reward did not go to the reactionaries, Lars Porcina and False Sextus, but to the original Wilson men, Horatius, Herminius and Lartius. Neither the lay of ancient Rome nor the lay of the land in Michigan have been pondered by the Postmaster General, although he was out there helping the progressive Democrats combat the organization in 1912."

Politics in Strike.

Mr. Schermerhorn concluded with the assurance to his hearers that he was not complaining against the President in expressing dissatisfaction with Michigan patronage distribution. He voiced a very strong appreciation of the President and his work.

Senator Townsend, of Michigan, acted as toastmaster. In introducing Mr. Wood he took occasion to open the impending Congressional investigation of the Calumet strike on the grounds that it would be colored by the political aspirations of the investigators and those who are now advocating investigation.
